

One Day Seminar on LHC and CMS Physics, " Future of High Energy Physics "

The School of Physics of IPM in collaboration with the Center of Excellence in Physics of Sharif University of Technology is organizing a one day workshop on high energy physics with emphasis on the LHC and CMS experiment. In this one day activity a number of distinguished scientists from CERN, IPM and Physics department of Sharif University will review the future of experimental high energy physics and different aspects of the LHC experiments.

Those who are interested should contact nayyeri@ipm.ir (with subject: LHC seminar). Please include CV and a reference letter. PhD students in physics, computer science and engineering are encouraged to apply to participate in this workshop.

Those accepted will be contacted by email.

The deadline for application is October 9th 1385.
