

In this talk, we shortly review the neutrino observations that are compatible with the Standard Model (SM) of particle physics. We then discuss how the neutrino oscillation mechanism can explain the observed data.