

Abstract

Being able to work with Particle Data Group (PDG) Booklet for a serious high energy physicist is as necessary as knowing the multiplication table, regardless of whether she or he is a string theorist, a phenomenologist or an experimentalist. In this talk, by some examples we demonstrate how we can extract data out of this magical and "freely" available booklet.