

Abstract

In this I plan to review some basics and then present a model with (1) open string fluxes only (some stabilization details of the model I gave the other day) and (2) where both types of fluxes are present.