

Abstract

In this talk, we discuss the possibility of coherence loss for neutrinos traveling very long distances of cosmological scale (larger than 100 Mpc). We also discuss how the properties of the source determine the size of the wavepacket.