

Abstract

In this model, inflation arises from dynamics of non-commutative matrices coupled to gravity. Specific examples include the dynamics of N coincident branes in an appropriate background. It is shown that the fine-tuning associated with standard chaotic inflation can be avoided in a natural way.