

Abstract:

In this talk, first I review the basics of vector field inflation, the paper by Mukhanov et al, where inflation is driven by non- minimally coupled massive vector field. Then I go to Kanno et al, in which they have a scalar field with no coupling to vector field and because of vector impurity the universe undergoes anisotropic inflationary expansion. Finally I explain what we have done so far.