

Abstract

Previous works on reheating, didn't incorporate effects of expansion of the universe except for conformal interaction in $\lambda\phi^4$ theory. I will give a brief report of our recent work on finding analytical approximations for particle production in real world (which expands!).