

In this talk, which is based on 1105.3188v1, we review various TeV scale mechanisms for neutrino mass generation. We then comment on leptogenesis in the presence of a low energy scale seesaw and describe an explicit model based on TeV scale $U(1)$ ' family symmetry and its predictions for the LHC.