

In this talk I will explain the DarkSide-50 experiment, the most important program for the INFN search of dark matter. The talk will mostly cover the techniques used to detect WIMP particles. DarkSide-20k, the next step for Dark Matter search will be introduced, afterwards. At the end, my contribution to the PhotoElectronics section of the DS-20k technical proposal will be briefly described.