

We discuss dark energy with two approaches. First we change the section of energy momentum tensor and second we change the section of topology. In two cases we have seen several papers corresponding to dark energy. Finally if we account the bulk viscosity in early universe how will change the parameters of cosmology. Also, in that case can we find some arguments for the dark energy?