

Abstract

In this talk I will review our recent work on inflation after phase transition based on hybrid inflation. The amount of curvature perturbation and non-Gaussianity induced from entropy perturbation is discussed. This is the second time that I review this subject, however this time I will report the new results and also try to show you more details, so I hope it is not boring!