

Abstract

After a brief review on Curvaton and Inhomogeneous end of inflation scenarios, I will go through our work in progress, in which the waterfall field in hybrid inflation induces a natural mass to an extra field, we considering as a Curvaton. The observational signatures and theoretical aspects will be discussed.